The 2009 Current Strategy Forum hosted by the Secretary of the Navy, the Honorable Ray Mabus, certainly lived up to its billing as a capstone event in the College’s continuing mission to develop critical thinking amongst its students and faculty. Most delegates wore pensive expressions and were obviously deep in thought as they departed after a packed couple of days. Even the normally insatiable academic appetite of the College President, Rear Admiral Phil Wisecup

Spruced Up Spruance

September 16th was the ribbon-cutting ceremony for the newly-renovated Spruance Auditorium. Among the upgrades to the 37-year old hall are new seating, carpeting and paneling and a state-of-the-art audio-visual system. The construction and refurbishment was accomplished by several contractors at an estimated cost of over $7 million.

“processing” and would likely be for some weeks to come – tacit praise indeed for the thought-provoking series of speakers and panels that had gone before.

The 60th Current Strategy Forum was unique in a number of areas. The content was widely hailed as being the most relevant and useful the College has assembled in recent memory, and the panelists were, in the words of one, “a spectacular demonstration of the talent the US Government can bring to bear, even in times like these.” It was also one of the only times that the event has had to be held “off campus” – with the ongoing renovations to Spruance Auditorium necessitating a temporary move to the Hyatt Regency Hotel on Goat Island in Newport. This certainly did not dampen people’s enthusiasm to attend, and around 1,100 delegates, and a full 300 Foundation members, packed the facility for 2 days to hear a wide variety of opinions and subjects aired in the various panels and speeches.

Unavoidably in today’s times, the event began with a discussion on the recent financial crisis, to set the stage and scope for what the government can expect in terms of resources. The consensus was that, while it would take years to recover fully, the global economy had indeed suffered a heart attack and narrowly averted a “depression” – probably the worst since the ‘30s but, more importantly, that it had survived, in part due to lessons learned in the intervening years. This allowed the SECNAV to invite people to consider the real possibility that, despite our best efforts, the threats we will face in the future will, in all probability, not be those that we can see today.

A series of four important panels then ensued, filling the majority of the conference time. Subjects discussed included America’s continuing dominance on the world stage; the role of history in helping us to predict the future – or at least in guiding us to the questions that we need to ask; the importance of positive influence; and a discussion on the need to combine “hard” and “soft” power into “smart” power – power that leverages our influence and is flexible enough to deal with incipient problems in advance of their becoming a crisis. This requires a re-balancing of capabilities to include some concrete organization for the interagency effort which is less than optimally employed.

Greg Mortensen

For many, the highlight was a chance to hear Greg Mortensen, the mountaineer and bestselling author of Three Cups of Tea, deliver a poignant plea for the importance of education in the final solution to the crises in the developing world, in particular Pakistan and Afghanistan – advice that seems to be being heard in high places. A timely reminder perhaps that, with all our military and interagency power, sometimes the most crucial resource we have at our disposal is our ability to communicate.

Distinguished Graduate Leadership Award

(c) General Odierno receives the DGLA from RADM Wisecup (l) and RADM Whisler, Chairman NWC Foundation (r)

The NWC recognized General Raymond T. Odierno, USA, as the 14th recipient of the Distinguished Graduate Leadership Award (DGLA). General Odierno was honored at a dinner and awards ceremony in Washington, DC on May 12th. He is currently serving as Commander, Multi-National Force-Iraq.

CONVOCATION

Although August 17th was foggy on Colbert Plaza, Naval War College President Rear Admiral Phil Wisecup had a clear-cut message to deliver at this year's convocation. His audience consisted of 582 students from all branches of the US military, various federal agencies and 56 other countries as well as NWC faculty and other prominent guests.

RADM Wisecup stressed that each student is a "professional" who occupies "a position of special respect and trust in our society." He encouraged them to express their professional opinions and to contribute to the professional dialogue during their tenure at the College. He also praised the distinguished faculty for their commitment and work on the country's most pressing and relevant issues. The admiral stressed the bond that would develop amongst students and faculty, one that would last far beyond the students' time in Newport.

Describing the Naval War College experience he said, "This place is about the future ... preparation ... expecting the unexpected ... it is about education ... (and) anticipation." RADM Wisecup then closed by placing the mantle of responsibility firmly on the shoulders of the students, claiming both their singular and group efforts will determine the quality of their education.

International Sea Power Symposium

Chief of Naval Operations ADM Gary Roughead will host the 19th International Sea Power Symposium at the Naval War College in Newport, RI, October 6-9. This event is specifically designed to allow him to interact with his counterparts, chiefs of navies and coast guards from around the globe. It is not open to the public.

More than 200 Flag and General Officers, Chiefs of Naval Operations and Commandants of the Coast Guard from approximately 100 countries are expected to attend. This year's theme is "Connecting Navies, Building Partnership."

The purpose of the symposium is to provide a forum for senior international naval leaders to discuss common maritime challenges and opportunities to enhance international maritime security cooperation. These officers will spend three days discussing these issues and listening to a selection of distinguished speakers.

Executive Director

RADM Roger T. Nolan, USNR (Ret.)

I am penning these words to you at the end of a very busy summer at the College and Foundation. We hoped to have had this edition of "The Bridge" to you earlier, but we have been focused on changes to our website and its portal, allowing our members to connect with each other and reach back to the faculty here and to fleet concentration areas around the world. We have also been changing the heart of our Foundation while we modernize our 14-year old member database as we approach the 6,000 member level.

student academic prize program. At convocation students could look forward to an ever-strengthening edge in the growing regional studies program, now the focus of new Foundation initiatives.

Current Strategy Forum this year was exceptional. The keynotes led by our new Secretary of the Navy Ray Mabus, our Chief of Naval Operations, Admiral Gary Roughead, and General James T. Conway, Commandant of the Marine Corps were as strong and enlightening as ever, but the emotional leader in addresses was clearly Greg Mortenson, author of Three Cups of Tea. Panels were balanced in a way that gave the audience an opportunity to hear a broad spectrum of views on key issues. Next year's CSF will be back in newly-renovated Spruance Auditorium on 8 and 9 June.

I am amazed by the energy, enthusiasm, leadership and generosity of our Board of Trustees of our Board of Trustees piloted, most ably, by RADM Glenn Whisler, USN(Ret.). As we said goodbye to outgoing trustees Barbara Epstein and Bill Adelaar, we welcomed 8 new members to our Board who have already begun to lead in deed and by remarkable personal example. The energy to grow and do more is evident everywhere.

Your contributions, especially in these difficult times, continue to make a big difference. Foundation funds give the Naval War College a crystal clear edge. At graduation that edge appeared through a vibrant

Finally, what is most gratifying to me as Executive Director is my ability to call our corporate and individual giving leaders in good times and bad and hear the word "yes" to growing the support for this amazing College. I know I hear that answer, time and time again, because you understand that this institution makes a difference in our world.

RADM Roger T. Nolan

BUSINESS AND PLEASURE

On 15 June approximately 150 Foundation members conducted some important business but found time to enjoy some pleasure afterwards. Chairman RADM Glenn E. Whisler, USN (Ret.) led off the annual members' meeting with a general overview of the Foundation's progress and a look to the coming year. RADM Roger Nolan followed, with a more in-depth report on 2008 activities. The final update was presented by Treasurer Richard Rosenberg and investment advisor Jeffrey Gordon, who reiterated that the portfolio had fared better than many other non-profits.

Next members were treated to a command presentation by College President RADM Phil Wisecup, who expressed his gratitude to the Foundation for its generous support. Some longstanding members who have been especially supportive were honored for their generosity. Among those singled out for entry into the Chairman's Circle and the various Admirals' societies are:

Chairman's Circle (for annual giving of $10,000 or greater)

- Bill Constantine
- John D'Luhy
- Robert Hayden
- Peter Mott
- Ed Polk (9 consecutive awards)
- Joseph Roxe
- Orin Smith
- John van Beuren
- Northrop Grumman Corporation
- Raytheon Integrated Defense Systems
- Raytheon Missile Systems, Tucson
- Slocum, Gordon and Company
- Breidenthal-Snyder Foundation
- Jean K. Lafromboise Foundation
- John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation
- USG Corporation

Admiral Stephen B. Luce Society (cumulative contributions between $500,000 - $1,000,000) - van Beuren Foundation

Admiral Raymond A. Spruance Society ($250,000 - $500,000) - Northrop Grumman Corporation, Lynde and Harry Bradley Foundation

Admiral William S. Sims Society ($100,000 - $250,000) - Slocum, Gordon and Company, Lockheed Martin Legislative Affairs

Admiral John T. Hayward Society ($50,000 - $100,000) - Daniel Coughlin, The Goldie-Anna Charitable Trust

Admiral Joel R. P. Pringle Society ($25,000 - $50,000) - CAPT Theodore Foster, Joseph Roxe, Booz Allen Hamilton, Peter Mott, Jean K. Lafromboise Foundation, Dayton T. Brown, Inc.

Other awards given out by Admirals Whisler and Nolan included Meritorious Service Awards to Robert Hayden, D. Robert McGinnis, and Paul Daley for their exceptional service, and special recognition to 2 stellar volunteers, Bill Ferreira and Lt Col Steve Liddy, USAF.

Another purpose of the meeting was fulfilled with the election of 8 new, energized Trustees to the Board: Norman Brown, Vail Garvin, David Gordon, James Honigschmidt, Edward Marchetti, Ronald Morgan, Peter Mott and Steven Seiter. Re-elected to the Board for 3-year terms were Edward Bragg, Jr., Dennis McCoy, Peter Pelletier, Joseph Roxe and John Salesses. William Adelaar and Barbara Epstein, 2 outgoing Board members were commended for their service.

The meeting concluded with an invitation by RADM Whisler to join him and the Foundation staff for a buffet luncheon in the historic Mahan Rotunda.

Valuable Contributors

All of our members are important to us, but our corporate members' contributions are especially vital to the many programs we support. Their annual membership fees, along with their other generous donations, have allowed us to fund academic chairs, sponsor lectures and conferences, renovate student classrooms, and pay for international class reunions, among others. We recognize that corporations are often inundated with requests for charitable donations, and we commend those who have chosen to assist us in providing a clear and distinct edge to the College. Many of our corporate members have played a significant role in assisting the Foundation for over 10 years, and we want to recognize them for their generosity and dedication. In the list below, we have designated these members with an asterisk (*).

NCC CLAMBAKE

Robert "Rocky" Kempenaar, NWCF corporate member times 2, hosted a traditional New England clambake in Middletown, RI, on August 20th to welcome the Naval Command College Class of 2010. Each of the students was bestowed honorary Rhode Island citizenship by Deborah Smith, representing Governor Donald Carcieri. This year's senior international officer class represents 47 countries from around the world.

Enjoying the clambake and camaraderie are COL Abdulla Ahmad Saeed Almansoori of the United Arab Emirates Navy; CAPT Hossam Ahmed Abdelwahab Ebraheem, Egyptian Navy; LtCol Hour M. M. B. Alenezi of the Kuwaiti Naval Force; and COL Sultan Rasheed Mohamed Manea Alkaabi, Bahrain Royal Naval Force.

CHECK US OUT!

Our website, www.nwcfoundation.org, is undergoing some substantial changes. Many of these will be transparent to our members and site visitors, but changes you will notice include smoother and more intuitive navigation, user-friendly forms, video clips from our DVD and an expanded Museum store presence. As before, you can join the Foundation, renew or upgrade your membership, change your address or make a donation. You can also get information on upcoming events, access our social networking portal and read our newsletters. Check us out and give us your feedback!

"SOCIAL" ACTIVITIES

We are truly excited! Our updated website features a brand new social networking portal where you can keep in touch with your classmates and colleagues, find out where they are and what they are doing. Post your own photos, videos and audio. Write your own blog or form a discussion group. Communicate with NWC faculty members, students and alumni. Network with our individual and corporate members. This is a fantastic way to maintain and develop relationships all over the world! Just log on to our website, www.nwcfoundation.org, register by clicking on the Alumni Network tab, and have fun!

Major Donor Dinner

On Sunday, June 14th, a reception and dinner was held by the Naval War College Foundation at OceanCliff Resort in Newport to thank its major donors for their support and generosity in the past year. This special event honors donors who have contributed $5,000 or more in the calendar year or have donated over $100,000 cumulatively. Seated from left to right are Beverly Diamond, Joseph Roxe, Dick Rosenberg, Gale and John D’Luhy, and Joe and Teresa Ducas.

INCREASING OUR CORPORATE SUPPORT

The Naval War College Foundation welcomes 7 new corporate supporters: Cisco Systems, Inc.; Ensign Engineering, PC; HDT Engineered Technologies; Raytheon Corporation; The Computer Merchant, Ltd.; White Resources Corporation; and WJN, Inc. They join 123 other corporations whose contributions and generosity substantially increase our support to the Naval War College. To see a list of all these corporations or to learn more about them, please visit our website, www.nwcfoundation.org.

Superior Civilian Service Award

19 June 2009 – Professor John B. Hattendorf, Ernest J. King Professor of Maritime History, received the Department of the Navy Superior Civilian Service Award for his work as Chairman of the Secretary of the Navy Advisory Subcommittee on Naval History from January 2006 to December 2008. Professor Hattendorf is also Chair of the Maritime History Department and Director of the Naval War College Museum.

Welcome Spouses

17 August – The Newport Officers' Spouse Club held its annual coffee to formally welcome the spouses of active duty, reserve and retired military officers to Newport. The Welcome Coffee represents an opportunity for area non-profits and community organizations to introduce themselves and their services to the military community. The NWCFC handed out informational literature and applications, and the Museum Store showcased many of its products at this fun event.

CALLING OUR ALUMNI

We want to hear from you! If you graduated from the NWC and are celebrating a promotion or significant life event, submit a photo (300 dpi or higher) and the details to us so we can publish it in "The Bridge." We'll reserve a page or two each issue to spotlight your accomplishments and career highlights. E-mail us at NWC\_Foundation@usnwc.edu with all the gouge!

New Command

CDR Chris DeGregory, USN assumed command of USS BULKELEY (DDG 84) on 8 May 2009 in Norfolk, VA. CDR DeGregory is originally from Ludlow, MA, and graduated with distinction from the College of Naval Command & Staff in March of 2004.

IN MEMORIAM

In early July we were notified of the passing of Captain Christopher Limerick, Jr., USN(Ret.), a 1967 graduate of the Naval War College's College of Naval Command and Staff and a 1971 graduate of the College of Naval Warfare. He was also a dedicated member of the Foundation for over 25 years. A native of New Bedford, MA, he was a man who loved the sea and our Navy. He commanded two minesweepers, USS REDPOLL and USS THRASHER; a destroyer escort, USS PILLSBURY; and was the third Commanding Officer of USS GARCIA (FF-1052). After his retirement, Captain Limerick divided his time between San Diego and his native Massachusetts where his favorite sports teams kept his interest.

We do not have a LAST CALL column, but we recognize Captain Limerick here because he is, posthumously, recognized as a loyal member of the Foundation's Heritage Society. He loved the Navy and the Naval War College so much that he gave a major portion of his estate as a gift to enhance the work that we do in support of the College. I was blessed to have the opportunity to attend his memorial service and to meet his family. Please join me in rendering a final salute to a dedicated sailor and an exceptional supporter who has left our midst.

RADM Roger T. Nolan

Faces of the Naval War College

The Naval War College Museum is pleased to announce the opening of its newest exhibit Faces of the Naval War College: The 125th Anniversary Exhibit of Portrait Paintings and Busts in the Naval War College Museum on 1 October in honor of the College's 125th anniversary. The exhibit contains 23 paintings and 12 sculptures representing 20 former presidents of the Naval War College and 10 notable faculty, staff members and graduates. At the opening reception the newest addition to the Museum's collection was unveiled – a portrait of Professor Emeritus Porter A. Halyburton painted by artist John C. Traynor.

The exhibit will run through 4 December. To visit the NWC Museum, please call 401.841.4052 for reservations at least 24 hours in advance.
