

Douglas L. Newhouse

Doug is Co-Founder and Managing Partner of Sterling Investment Partners. Sterling is a mid-market focused private equity firm which Doug co-founded in 1991. Sterling is funded by institutional investors which include both domestic and foreign pensions, endowments, sovereign wealth funds, money managers and charitable institutions.

He is involved in all aspects of Sterling's investment activities including its investment committee, sourcing opportunities, negotiating and structuring transactions and working with management teams after the initial investment. Doug has served on the boards of numerous private and public companies since Sterling's inception. Prior to co-founding Sterling, he was a Senior Vice President in the Corporate Finance Department of Lehman Brothers where he worked for eight years. Prior to that, he was a Vice President of the Matuschka Group in Munich, West Germany where he worked for two years.

Doug is currently on the Board of Trustees of IYRS, based in Newport and the Newport Historical Society where he is a member of the Executive Committee. He has been on the boards of the Pequot Library in Southport, Connecticut and the Undergraduate Business School Council at Cornell University. He also served for many years as the Head of the Investment Committee of the endowment for Greens Farms Academy in Westport, Connecticut.

Doug earned a Bachelor's Degree in Economics from Cornell University and an MBA from the Graduate School of Business at the University of Chicago.

Doug and his wife, Holly Bannister, MD, have two grown children both of whom live and work in New York City. His principal residence is in Weston, CT; he also has homes in Newport, Rhode Island and Stratton Mountain, VT. He loves sports and outdoor activities. He is an avid sailor, golfer, skier and biker.
