

The Honorable Juliette C. McLennan

The Honorable Juliette C. McLennan – known as Judy, is retired from the U.S. Government where she served as The U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women under President George H. W. Bush. Judy also served as The Manager of Blair House, The President’s Guest House under President Ronald Reagan. During President George H. W. Bush’s inauguration, Judy was the Protocol Chief whereby she organized the Diplomatic Corps’ attendance at various Inaugural activities. Judy is the founder and President of the C. Thomas Clagett Jr. Memorial Clinic/Regatta for sailors with disabilities. She is a past member of the U.S. Sailing Committee for Sailors with Disabilities and The Seamen’s Church Institute of Newport. Judy currently serves on the The Newport Hospital Foundation and it’s Nominating Committee. Throughout her life, Judy has been very active on numerous International, National and Local charitable and civic Boards of Directors. Including U.S. Friends of the World Food Program, The Committee for a New Ireland and the International Center for Research on Women. Judy has received a variety of awards including, The Sister Ester Sailing Achievement Award from Salve Regina University, The Superior Honor Award, US Department of State and the 2010 Newport Daily News Community Service Award. Judy is now an Associate Member of the Canadian Ski instructors Alliance and was a Founder and Co-Owner of a ski-school in Canada. She is also an Associate Life Member of The Fraternal Order of Police and an Associate Member of the Talbot County Garden Club in Maryland. Judy was born in Washington, DC and currently resided in Portsmouth, RI with her three labradors. She has two grown children and one grandchild.